Place to Kickstart Your Healthy Reboot

BEST BIKE SHOP

➔ For 40 years, BIKEFACTORY has helped people roll all over O'ahu. Founder Wally Parcels, his son and vice president, Mitch, and their 20 employees not only bring in the latest bikes, electric bikes, skateboards, rollerblades, scooters and accessories, they'll work on pretty much anything on wheels. "We're an old-school traditional store where we service what we sell," Mitch says. "We'll make sure bicycles are properly set up, safe, shifting well. Our skate shop will help you customize. We're willing to create and have fun with you." ➔ Multiple locations, bikefactoryhawaii.com.
